

Institutional Online Subscriptions: Terms and Conditions

1999-2000 SITE LICENCE: CALIFORNIA CONSORTIA

Commitment to you

Subscriptions are valid for issues published between 1st January and 31st December

If you take the online version, a quality, electronic version of your selected journal publications will be available before paper publication and distribution. Access to the journals you have subscribed to will be given to users at your institution browsing from the IP addresses you have given us. After the end of each subscription year, your institution will receive an archival CD-ROM containing material published during that year in your selected journals. We try to keep our web site available at all reasonable times, subject to necessary maintenance and unforeseen events.

rights we will grant

Our journals are protected by copyright - our journal and website copyright statements and disclaimers will apply. Please note that we do not accept responsibility for the work of our authors and also that, because our organisation is not for profit, we require to limit our liability to the amount of your subscription fee.

Users may:

- Copy, download and store full text articles for their personal scholarly, research and educational use
- Use articles for teaching purposes and any other purposes permitted by our copyright statements

Users may not:

- Systematically copy, download or re-distribute substantial numbers of articles
- Distribute any articles or journals for profit or any commercial purpose

If we suspect that unauthorised activities may have taken place, we will, with your assistance, bring a halt to them. If we believe it necessary, we will terminate your subscription in such circumstances.

Addendum

1. The Company of Biologists agrees to provide electronic access to their journals:
Development
Journal of Cell Science
Journal of Experimental Biology to the California Digital Library for an access fee of _____ of the cost of print. Each general campus library of the University agrees to continue to subscribe for one paper copy of each title, but they may cancel duplicate copies. Such access fee is a discounted rate for access to the electronic version of the journal. If a library cancels the paper copy, that location will pay full price for access to the electronic version of the journal. The University of California Office of the President will have access to the content

2. After the end of each subscription year, The Company of Biologists shall provide Subscriber with one (1) complete set of CD-ROMs (or their equivalent at COB's option) containing the content licensed by and accessible to Subscriber during that year. COB hereby grants to Subscriber a nonexclusive, royalty-free, perpetual license to use such content in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, which terms shall survive any termination of this Agreement.
3. Subscriber may provide electronic links to the publications from subscriber's web page(s), and is encouraged to do so in ways that will increase the usefulness of the publications to Authorized Users. The Company of Biologists' staff will provide assistance to Subscriber upon request in creating such links effectively. Subscriber agrees to make changes in the appearance of such links and/or in statements accompanying such links as reasonably requested by The Company of Biologists. The Company of Biologists will use best endeavours to provide a means for Subscriber to link directly from records in Subscriber's bibliographic computing systems to the content in the publications at the title, issue, and article levels, using standard Internet communications and applications protocols, and such other methods as may be agreed to by The Company of Biologists and the Subscriber. Other than the creation of such links, Subscriber shall not modify, manipulate, or create a Derivative Work of the publications without the prior written permission of The Company of Biologists.
4. The Company of Biologists shall use reasonable efforts to provide continuous service 7 days a week, subject to scheduled maintenance and repair and unforeseen events. Scheduled down-time will be performed where reasonably practicable at a time to minimize inconvenience to subscribers world-wide.
5. Subject to the limitations of copyright law, Subscriber is permitted to supply to the user of another library (whether by post, fax or secure intermediate electronic transmission, using Ariel or its equivalent, whereby the electronic file is deleted immediately after printing), for the purposes of research or private study, a single paper copy of an electronic original of an individual article.
6. The Company of Biologists shall use reasonable efforts to ensure that the online content is equivalent to print journals, represents complete, faithful and timely replications of the print versions of such journals, and will endeavour to correct errors or omissions in accordance with its standard procedures and policies in force at the time that notification of the error is received.
7. If and when The Company of Biologists develops a mechanism to provide user data to its Users, it agrees to make this available to the subscriber on the same basis that other Users are provided with such user data.
8. The Company of Biologists certifies that to the best of its knowledge, the Website from which the publications may be accessed is Year 2000 compliant. That is, it will not be inaccessible due to a problem with the date change or date functions in the Year 2000 and beyond, provided that all other third party components, equipment, infrastructuring utilities, networks and other facilities, including but not limited to the equipment, facilities, infrastructure, utilities and networks of the California Digital Library are fully operational at that time.
9. "Authorized Users" are defined as faculty, staff, students, and users at terminals located in the library facilities of the following University of California campuses: Berkeley, Davis, Irvine, Los Angeles, Merced, Riverside, San Diego, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz and the Office of the President.
10. The parties shall co-operate to explore the implementation of additional security procedures as they are developed.

11. If The Company of Biologists' journal and website copyright statements and disclaimers change in a manner that the subscriber, in its sole discretion, believes adversely affects the value of the product, the subscriber has the right to terminate upon 30 days written notice and to a pro-rated refund of the current subscription per the date of termination.

12. Notwithstanding the provision of The Company of Biologists standard 1999 license agreement, The Company of Biologists warrants to the subscriber that it is the owner of the copyright in the licensed materials or that it is duly licensed to use the copyright material contained in the licensed materials.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, The Company of Biologists and the Subscriber have caused this Site Licence and Addendum to be executed by their duly authorized representatives as of the date set forth below.
