

Your Community, Your History

Share your collections and build support with LHDRP

The Local History Digital Resources Project (LHDRP) makes it easy to get your library's cultural heritage materials online.

If awarded a grant, your library will receive funding to scan 200 items, as well as free training on copyright, metadata, and CONTENTdm. Your images will have great visibility when made freely available on the Online Archive of California and Calisphere. And your community will value the service you provide in collecting and preserving its history!

“Our digitized objects have acted as amazing publicity—not only by promoting the history collections in general, but also when seeking local funding and support.”

— past LHDRP participant

Apply for a grant

The LHDRP competitive grant application is short and painless. Just tell us what you want to digitize and its relevance to California history.

<http://www.library.ca.gov/grants/lsta/apply.html>
Applications are due April 1st.

